Remote phone tracking: how to make it work even if you cannot get access to the target phone

Mobile tracking doesn't presuppose getting your hands on the cell phone of a target person. It looks unprofessional and casts you in a negative light. You can't just pick up a mobile device of the target person and see their messages and locations. Instead, you will have to use monitoring software with the consent of a mobile device owner to track the usage of the handset.

You will be able to get all the details about the activities done on any mobile at regular intervals. You can view these logs on your own mobile device, any iDevice, laptop or desktop. You only need to login with the details from mSpy, and the control panel will allow you to view all the activities of the target phone. Employers may use this software in the office to monitor mobile activities of their employees on the company-owned phones. This helps in increasing efficacy of the employees as they will know that their boss monitors them on regular basis. Junior family members (kids & teenagers) are monitored to remove any chances of confusion caused by improper web content or bad friends' influence.

mSpy or Flexispy are the most reputed software products available for tracking and monitoring mobile phones. You can only buy the subscription online and install the apps on the target mobile. It even allows you to spy without letting the target user know about it. However, it can't be done in business, as mSpy requires the user to be informed about their mobile device being tracked.

7 things you should track on your target phone

1. Facebook Tracking

FB monitoring reveals all the pictures, status messages, friend list, personal messages and other updates made by your target on its personal FB account. It will be made available through the control panel provided by mSpy, even if he/she deletes any content. You can view the FB updates anytime and at any remote location.

2. Skype Tracking

Skype chats and phone calls can be recorded by mSpy and you can get access to all the call records, PM and other details with time and date.
It is feasible for you to check the calling activities of your target phone along with its new connections on Skype.

3. WhatsApp Tracking

You can monitor any WhatsApp activities and see if the target person is sharing innocent content . You can also view conversations; if some of them are deleted on a target device, nothing will disappear from your control panel.

4. SMS Tracking

Track SMS of your target person by installing mSpy on their mobile.
One package will give you all the details, including their mobile messages.
You can view whom your target communicates with and talk to their contacts about all topics.

5. GPS Location

It is no longer difficult to know where your kids are at a particular time.
You can check their GPS location from time to time and get to know their exact whereabouts.
Even if your kids lie on this matter, you can find their GPS position by using mSpy mobile application.

6. Monitor Internet Usage

Use mSpy to check out the list of websites and links opened by your children on web browser of their mobile. It gives details of visited sites, online sessions' duration and web content surfed by your children.

7. Viewing Multimedia Files

You can view all the multimedia data of your children's mobile with the help of mSpy. Any multimedia sharing with any source is listed on the control panel ; nothing remains hidden from you.

Rooted (jailbroken) VS non-rooted (non-jailbroken) tracking

How to Track Android Device?

Android devices can be tracked with 'Tracking Software' installed on it.
This mobile tracking is legal.

What Is Rooting and What Function Does it Perform?

Rooting an Android device means getting all permissions and rights for the Android software. It can facilitate the user to download customized software mainly to perform hacking activities on the Android phone.

The main purpose behind rooting the device is to install additional, customized mobile tracking software on it. After rooting procedure, you can easily employ versatile mobile solutions and get access to any device without letting the user know about it.

The main reason for monitoring is that the user will carry forward their regular activities and there can be nothing hidden from you when you are tracking the device.

Android Tracking without Rooting is Possible with mSpy mSpy is the only software available in the market that offers Android tracking without rooting and iPhone monitoring without jailbreaking.

This is really an exclusive feature designed for smartphones to begin the tracking process without any prerequisites.

You can get all the activities tracked without even giving a hint to the mobile device owner.

It is actually the best way to monitor your child, employee or anyone requiring your supervision.

Rooted (jailbroken) VS non-rooted (non-jailbroken) tracking

Jailbreaking is completely free and totally legal; it is reversible, perfectly safe and not technically difficult at all. Contrary to the rumours, updates of the latest versions can be installed without problems.

Why to do this?

During jailbreaking process, a program will install an application called Cydia. Cydia is something like a store which gives you access to all the other third party apps available. You have to jailbreak your iPhone at any cost, if you want to install any cell phone spy software programs onto it.

Procedure: Undertake full backup of your phone. Connect phone to your computer via USB cable. Turn off the phone's lock password. Beware! Do not use the phone or the PC for anything else during the process. Download the Jailbreak program to your computer. Mind correct OS version on your phone. Make sure you have no other programs open on your PC (as well as your phone) and click on the Jailbreak program (.exe file). Let jailbreaking app run. As soon as Cydia app is installed and updated, jailbreaking's done.

How to track phone without Jailbreaking the device?

Fortunately, mSpy can monitor iPhone use without jailbreaking.

All you have to do is:

- Obtain the iCloud credentials of the monitored non-jailbroken device (if iCloud backup isn't activated on the device, physical access may be necessary);
- Turn on features which you would like to use while monitoring;
- Fill in the required fields in the Wizard Setup correctly, then log into your Control Panel to view the user's device activity.

How can the tracking activity on a target phone be detected

Flexispy keeps you hidden always and everywhere, it cannot be found on a phone after installation.

Right after the installation, mSpy application is launched and starts working in a background mode. The icon which appears after mSpy installation does not contain any settings for mSpy functionality. For better user experience, there are 2 options: either to keep it on the dashboard of the monitored device or not.

Moreover, mSpy has Uninstall Notification feature which allows receiving and viewing detailed information on how mSpy application was deleted from the monitored device completely (or partially damaged), why and at what circumstances it happened.

NB! any spying software can be detected, even if it claims itself 100% undetectable.

Paid online spying applications VS Free analogues

Free applications for mobile spying are available in a huge number online.

However, if you want professional, detailed and accurate spying then it is advisable to get paid subscription for cell phone spying apps. Parental control and phone tracking: the essential knowledge on how to prevent online crimes

Every parent is concerned about the safety of their children and it is indeed the responsibility of every parent to keep an eye on the activities of their kids. There are many things coming into the ways of teenagers and they get off the track due to some bad people around them. There are many malicious activities like cyberbullying, sexual exploitation, porn websites, useless internet relations and much more coming to the news every day.

These things do happen and have actually become a part of regular lives of children. It is a real matter of worry and an alarming thing for the parents to know that their children are off the track and unsafe in the company of some bad people.

To avoid such issues for your kids, you can keep a regular check on them through their mobile phone. Every child spends maximum time with their mobile phone & laptop and hence, it is necessary to keep a check on their device to see what all they do for the whole day.

Technology has initiated many good things for human beings, but it has also led to the drastic ways in which children are become mature before the required time.

It is the biggest failure of technology and you never know when your children get into the company of negative people. Facebook, WhatsApp, Internet websites and Skype are the major apps used by children to interact with their buddies.

You can't check their mobile every time and it is required to install a spying app to know their activities with full records and details.

mSpy is the most preferred application used for mobile and laptop spying.

You can simply install it on the target device and it will immediately begin spying on your children.
